To the Librarian:

A revision of the American Library Annual is in preparation to include library statistics as of year ending December 31st, 1919.

The information from your library has not come to hand. May we have your prompt assistance in making the list as complete and accurate as possible?

On the next page you will find a blank to be filled out, and a clipping showing how your entry appeared in the volume issued during 1918. Owing to the disorganizing effect of the war many libraries failed to send replies to the 1918 inquiries and such entries had to be filled in from incomplete information. It is particularly important that complete new statistics are had this year.

The importance of full information on American Libraries is particularly pressing after the many changes that have taken place during the past two years.

Cordially yours,

THE LIBRARY JOURNAL,
R. R. BOWKER, Pres.

The Library Journal since January 1st 1920 has been published twice-a-month, an effort to meet the full needs of the profession and the increased activities of the library field. The editors hope for widest co-operation from librarians in sending suggestions and contributions.

Dear Sir:

We have recorded a number of your publications in the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY and I am wondering whether you would consider making an announcement of them to the librarians of the country. The LIBRARY JOURNAL, which we publish goes to three thousand librarians, covering thoroly the entire library field. In this list are some three hundred foreign, state and university libraries.

There is a certain percentage of librarians who should be interested in your books and pamphlets. They may be reached at small expense thru the LIBRARY JOURNAL. On the enclosed sheet you will note that for $10, quite a large number of books can be fairly well described. I suggest this small space to you in the hope you may see your way clear to say something to the librarians. On the other hand, if possible, I urge running the announcement twice. Our next available issue is November 15th, copy for which should be received by November 10th.

Very truly yours,

THE LIBRARY JOURNAL.
